

Wendy Worrell

Assistant Director

Western HVAC Performance Alliance Inc.

Wendy Worrell is the Assistant Director of the Western HVAC Performance Alliance Inc (WHPA).

Wendy joined WHPA in 2011 as a BBI subcontractor to the IOU-funded, unincorporated phase of WHPA. Upon WHPA's transition to a corporate nonprofit entity in 2018, she was recruited into this current full-time role as Assistant Director to WHPA.

During Wendy's 2011-2017 subcontractor role with Better Buildings, Inc., she worked with the WHPA to achieve progress toward the goals of the California Energy Efficiency Strategic Plan (CEESP). WHPA is a fusion of HVAC, energy efficiency, facility, and property management organizations, researchers, educators, utilities, and regulatory agencies whose decision-maker-level appointees work with one another to curb energy waste.

Wendy facilitated, participated, and contributed in many WHPA arenas: Existing Buildings Energy Efficiency Action Plan; Compliance and Online Permitting; Workforce Education and Training; WE&T Gap Reports for Certifications; WE&T Whole Building Career Lattice Competency Model; HVAC Sales Training and Estimating Tools Clearinghouses; Codes and Standards; Residential and Commercial QI/QM; CQM Standard 180 Maintenance Tasks; HVAC in Whole Building Education; Energy Savings & DEER; Market Adoption; and WHPA Sustainability.

Wendy possesses a strong communicative style for adaptive management that provides reliable insight and fosters teamwork, productivity, and overall entity prosperity.

Wendy was Partner and Co-Owner of InfoPlast Business Solutions since 2002 providing administrative consulting services to clients in a variety of industries ranging from athletics, human resources/recruiting, real estate, energy efficiency, and more.

Wendy received her B.A. in psychology and sociology from UC Irvine. She received her MBA in Business Administration from University of Redlands.
